Vito Takes Role as New Prez

By Chris Vaccaro

When he can, Joe Vito spends his free time watching football. And as many high school coaches can relate, there is little free time during the season.

For Vito, his trips to watch three of his players at American International College, or one of his guys at Stony Brook University on out east on Long Island are pleasure cruises to pay homage to those he helped nurture.

That same loyalty and dedication will quickly become evident in his travels as the President of the NYSHSFCFA.

A board member since 2003, Vito has hopes of making his way to every section in the state to let them know his voice represents them and the association.

“We want everyone in this big state to know that we’re thinking about football,” he said. “We want to make this the biggest coaches association in the country.”

Vito is hoping to drive membership and make it clear that it’s open to varsity head coaches, as well as their assistants, the JV coaches and those at the freshman and junior high levels.

With last season’s inaugural NYS High School Football Classic, the separation of upstate and downstate seems to be dissipating. Though Long Island does not compete in the State football championships, it has slowly matriculated itself into the riches of the game throughout the entire state.

Often, downstate teams crack New York State football rankings and Vito said the continuity of having Long Island representatives on the executive committee helps.

Aside from him, Oceanside’s Rick Voight and Sachem North’s Dave Falco are both on the board.

While the committee can’t enforce legislation, Vito said he is pushing section representatives to contact their local politicians regarding new concussion management programs.

“We need to be more proactive there,” he said.

The head coach at Roosevelt High School in Nassau County for the last 17 years, Vito has won four Long Island Championships and six county titles.

“We’ve had a good little run,” he said modestly.

Vito also led the Downstate team to a 36-7 win in last summer’s inaugural Upstate-Downstate Empower Classic.

Vito also took the lead role in the final Governor’s Bowl played against New Jersey.

Had it not been for his high school coach, Tom Forbes, at East Rockaway, Vito may not have had the same passion and drive the game he does today.

Forbes coached East Rockaway to a 13-game winning streak and two Metropolitan League titles during the 1972 and 1973 seasons. East Rockaway finished 9-0 in 1973.

“I hope I can do half of what he did,” Vito said.

Director's

M E S S A G E

By Mike Foster

I recently sent an e-mail to every head football coach in NY state regarding membership in the New York State High School Football Coaches Association.

The message was simple... in order to advance New York Football, which is a basic tenet of the constitution of the NYSHSFCA, we need the support of all coaches in NY to make us the strongest coaches association in the country.

When great places for High School football are mentioned, thoughts immediately go to Florida, Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia and California, but not New York State! Why not?

NY is one of the most populated States in the country. Our athletes can compete with anyone. But we are not considered a "hotbed" for football.

One of the reasons is that we do not do a good job of marketing and promoting our product. We simply do not extend ourselves to promote our kids and actively talk "proud" about New York football. Look at the number of NY players who have or are now thriving in the NFL. Many were lightly recruited, or not recruited at all!

Every coach has a responsibility to their local program and every coach wants to win. But we also need to come together and advance football across New York State.

Everything that the NYSHSFCA does is designed to raise the profile of New York Football. Supporting our organization only helps advance our sport and raise the awareness of high school football.

I received an interesting bit of information a few weeks back. Last year, 63 players from NY walked on to the college football program of their choice and within 6 months were granted scholarships. The conclusion is that NY is simply under recruited!

The question is why?

Our Association simply cannot continue to run the coaches clinic, support our broad based awards programs, support NYSHSFCA Combines and sponsor the Upstat/Downstate classic without the total support of the 650 football playing schools in NY.

It is inconceivable to me how we could not have all 650+ schools all with staff memberships! If all Head Coaches embraced this concept, New York State would have the largest, strongest, and most robust Coaches Association in the country.

I challenge you to climb on board, raise the expectations for your staff and program, and help New York Football become all that it can be.

Jantzi, Goddard Leave Posts

At the end of every football season, there are coaching changes.

Two recent changes will drastically alter the coaching landscape in Western New York.

North Tonawanda coach Eric Jantzi had announced his resignation from the top of the NT program.

Also, Clarence coach Tom Goddard, who led the Red Devils to the Section 6 Class AA title this fall, announced that he would retire from teaching and coaching at the end of the school year.

"Thirty-eight years is a long time," Goddard said. "I still enjoy working with young men and seeing the results of a lot of work. The kids are just great."

Clarence finished 10-1 this season and beat Orchard Park in Ralph Wilson Stadium when Stephen Hughes kicked a 37-yard field goal on the last play of the game.

The Devils lost a 42-34 shootout to Section 5's Rush-Henrietta in the Far West Regional game. Rush-Henrietta won the NYS Class AA championship this season.

"Our kids never quit," Goddard said. "We were down 21-0 and came back and we were down 35-14 at the half and made it a ball game. These kids just refused to quit."

Goddard said that this may have been his most enjoyable season.

"The way the kids came together as a team from Day 1 was awesome," he said. "They enjoyed being together in practice and on the sidelines. It was fun and enjoyable for all of us."

Goddard started coaching in 1972 when he landed an assistant varsity job at Pembroke High School.

In 1980 he was hired as the head coach at Cheektowaga Central and stayed there until 1985.

In 1986 Goddard was hired as a Phys Ed teacher at Clarence, his alma mater. He was an assistant on staff until 1993, when he took over as the head coach.

He led the program at Clarence for the past 18 seasons, leading his team to Ralph Wilson Stadium four times. He won two Section 6 titles and has a career record of 115-98.

While Goddard's retirement was not a surprise, the announcement that Jantzi would leave North Tonawanda was shocking.

He has been at the front of the North Tonawanda program for 16 seasons. He led the Lumberjacks to the NYS championship just one year ago and gave no indication that he was even thinking of leaving.

Jantzi says that he is resigning because his family is moving to Orchard Park.

"We sold our house and we are moving closer to our family in Orchard Park," he said. "I am here every day, over the breaks, in the summer and it's just too far to drive. I wouldn't be able to do it right and I didn't want to do something half-assed."

Jantzi says that he agonized over the decision.

"It was a really tough decision," he said. "I've been thinking about it for a while."

Jantzi said that the responsibilities of being a head coach had become too much with the added travel time.

"It's not just practice," Jantzi said. "It's making videos and game-day programs. It's everything.

I came home the other night and my son wanted to play with me. I couldn't because I had to make an end-of-the-year video for the banquet."

The distance is just too much for Jantzi to give the same effort as he required of his players.

"I want them here every day to lift weights," Jantzi said. "We do the summer passing leagues and off-season workouts. I can't ask them to do that if I'm not here myself."

"It was very easy when I could be here in 10 seconds," Jantzi said. "Now it will be an extra 90 minutes a day in commuting time."

Jantzi says that he has no specific plans to coach next season.

"I would like to keep coaching," Jantzi said, "but everything is open and up in the air. I might take an assistant coaching job somewhere or I may just take a few years away from the game."

Back 2 Back!

Hornell has won 26 straight games and 2 consecutive NYS titles

By Mark Adair

Gene Mastin led Hornell to a second straight New York State championship as the Red Raiders crushed Schalmont 50-20 in the Syracuse Carrier Dome.

Mastin just finished his 27th season at the helm of the Hornell program. The Red Raiders are the only champion in the state to pull off a repeat this season.

"That's really a nice honor considering the quality of competition across the state," Mastin said.

Hornell has now won 26 straight games, the longest active streak in the state.

This title is a little more satisfying for Mastin. He wasn't able to enjoy the Raiders' 2009 championship as his wife underwent chemotherapy the day after winning the title.

"We won on Sunday and Cheryl started chemo on Monday,"

Mastin said. "Knowing the adversity that my wife was going to face for the next three months took a little bit of the edge off of winning it."

For now, Cheryl Mastin is cancer free.

"She has to have another surgery," Mastin said, "but we are very fortunate that, at this point, she's cancer-free. I feel very grateful."

This season, Mastin says he will enjoy the title for a few days.

"I felt as good about this year as any achievement we have done," he said. "Our personal situation is much better. Luckily, I have two very strong and capable women in my house - my wife and my daughter. I also have a great coaching staff and very focused kids that were able to handle everything while Cheryl and I were dealing with her cancer."

Mastin says he is most impressed with his players.

"When you are the defending champ or have a 26-game winning streak you won't sneak up on anybody," he said. "We were #1 in the New York State poll right from the beginning. That's a pretty lofty challenge. You have a target on your back every week. It's the biggest game of the season for every one of your opponents."

Mastin says that, when practice started in August, he thought that his team had a chance to repeat.

"We knew we had some good kids back," he said, "and we knew that if we made good things happen our hat would be in the ring. But a lot of things can go wrong along the way."

Hornell did have some significant graduation losses from the 2009 title team.

Running back Austin Dwyer, who was named the NYS Class B Player of the Year in 2009, left for Alfred University. Dwyer had a solid freshman season at Alfred as he rushed for 1,412 yards to break the school's single season rushing record. He also scored 8 TDs as Alfred advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals before losing to Mount Union.

Mastin shuffled the lineup to fill the hole Dwyer left. "Sam Stonerock was our fullback last year," Mastin said. "We moved him to tailback. We knew Sam would be good but he split a lot of carries with Scott McKibben."

Mastin limited both backs carries.

"We wanted both of them to split the carries," Mastin said. "We wanted both of them to be fairly fresh for the playoffs. With the playoffs we had six extra games and we wanted them fresh for the later games."

The results were emphatic.

Stonerock rushed for 1,902 yards and scored 30 TDs. McKibben ran for 1,150 yards and 17 TDs.

"Those two rushed for over 3,000 yards," Mastin said, "which was more than Austin Dwyer had when he broke the Section 5 record."

Hornell was incredibly dominant this season. The Red Raiders scored at least 40 points in 11 of 13 games. Three times the Raiders rolled up 60 points on an opponent - all three times in the playoffs.

"We were really beginning to hit our peak the week before the playoffs started," Mastin said. "The last couple of years we have played our best football in the playoffs. The kids seem to find a way to kick it up a notch once we get to the playoffs."

Mastin also said that after Hornell beat Schalmont 50-20 in the state championship game, he was impressed with the program.

"I think Schalmont will be a regular in the state tournament," he said. "Their time is coming. I really like the way their coaching staff is putting their team together."

Mastin says he is pleased that this group of players have been able to realize the ultimate.

"The best things in my life I have been able to share with other people," he said. "That's the best thing about both championships. I was able to share this with a great group of kids."

Monacelli Leaves after 23 seasons

Caledonia-Mumford football coach Mike Monacelli has announced that he is retiring after posting a 186-50 record in 23 seasons and capturing four New York State Public High School Athletic Association championships.

He led the Red Raiders to an 11-2 record this season.

Monacelli, who has already retired from teaching and will stay on as athletic director, made up his mind last summer.

"The state came through with a retirement incentive," Monacelli said, "and I decided that it would be my last year. We tried to keep it under wraps, which is what I wanted. I wanted this season to be about the kids and what they are doing, not a Custer's Last Stand type of thing."

Monacelli appeared before Congress in May to testify on head injuries. The Caledonia-Mumford school district began to use sophisticated concussion testing for athletes and other students in 2006.

He shared his decision with the players three days after a loss to Tuckahoe in the NYSPHSAA Class D final in the Syracuse Carrier Dome.

The Red Raiders won 10 Section 5 titles and advanced to six NYS tournament finals under Monacelli. They also won a New York State Sportswriters Association poll championship in 1992, the year before the NYSPHSAA began crowning tournament champions.

"The program's in a good place right now," Monacelli said. "We had 30 kids on the varsity and 20 are coming back. We had an undefeated JV team. When I took over here the cupboard was bare, and I didn't want that saddle to be put on someone else."

Monacelli says that he has no plans to coach anywhere next fall.

"I have no plans to coach at all," he said. "I'll stay on as the part-time Athletic Director. I'll definitely miss the day-to-day relationships that I've made with people all over the state."

While he was disappointed to lose his last game, Monacelli says that his final season may have been his most rewarding.

"These kids found a way to win," he said. "We were undersized in a number of games but we surprised some people. These kids were fun to be with."

Class AA: Rush-Henrietta 40, Troy 28

Rush-Henrietta beat Troy 40-28 in the Class AA championship game in the Carrier Dome at Syracuse. The Royal Comets finished 13-0 as they won the school's first state title.

Rush-Henrietta won a "mythical" title in 1976 when they were voted the top-ranked large-school in New York State by the New York State Sportswriters Association. Head coach Joe Montesanto led Rush-Henrietta to a Section 5 AAA title in 2007 but the Comets lost to Canandaigua in the Section 5 championship game.

Rush-Henrietta quarterback Ashton Broyld was named the MVP of the title game as he rushed for 196 yards and 2 TDs on 23 carries.

Broyld also completed 5 of 11 passes for 94 yards and another TD.

"It starts with him," Montesanto said. "He's the best player I've ever had since I've been coaching - or even watching football."

Broyld is 6-4 and 230-pounds, has been timed at 4.5 in the 40-yard dash and is a top-tier Division I-A prospect.

"He has offers from Louisville, Akron and Eastern Michigan,"

Montesanto said. "Rutgers, Syracuse, Pitt, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina State have also shown some interest."

Broyld rushed for 1,772 yards and 26 TDs and also passed for 1,961 yards and 24 TDs. He is the all-time leader for passing yardage in Section 5.

"He had over 6,000 passing yards," Montesanto said. "We've had some very good QBs come out of this area but he did some things I've never heard of before."

Broyld was also named the MVP of every playoff game the Royal Comets played this fall.

"He moved to our school before his junior year," Montesanto said. "He has improved his academics and he is on course to have a GPA and SAT that will qualify him through the NCAA Clearinghouse."

But, while Broyld was Rush-Henrietta's most potent weapon, he was not the Comet's only weapon.

"We had four tailbacks that could have started on many teams," Montesanto said.

Tailback Devin Wofford rushed for 134 yards and 2 TDs in the title game. Wofford finished with 1,136 yards and 14 TDs this season. Wofford also returned the game's opening kickoff for a TD.

Class A: Aquinas 24, Harrison 13

Aquinas has re-established itself as the top Class A team in New York State with a 24-13 win over Harrison in the Class A title game.

It is the second NYS championship for head coach Chris Battaglia, who led the Irish to a state title in 2007. Battaglia also coached at Aquinas from 1984 until 1989.

"I coached football, basketball and track," Battaglia said. "and I taught 7 classes and made $9,000. I loved Aquinas but I had to leave for a better job."

After coaching at the University of Rochester, Battaglia landed a teaching job in the Penfield School District.

"I still teach 7th-grade Social Studies," he said. "I coached at Webster Schroeder and Penfield. When the Aquinas job opened up I thought it might be a great way to finish my career."

Mike Messina rushed for 176 yards and a TD on just 16 carries as Aquinas ran past Harrison. Messina rushed for more than 1,500 yards and scored 20 TDs this season.

"He only played half the games because we were up so much at the half," Battaglia said. "He averaged just 8 carries a game. He started getting more carries as the year went on but he played the last three games with a horrendous high-ankle sprain. He's just a great ball player and a great leader."

Chris Bostic caught 2 passes for 31 yards and a TD and also intercepted a pass. Bostic led Aquinas in receptions this season. He also has an academic average of 100 and is ranked #1 in his class. He was also the starting shortstop for the Western team in the Empire State Games.

"He has great hands and will catch anything that you can throw to him," Battaglia said.

One of the most visible players on the Irish is junior defensive tackle Jarron Jones, who is 6-7 and 305 pounds.

"This was his breakout season," Battaglia said. "He's a very good player and has great feet. He became a lot more physical this year."

Jones may be the top college prospect on a team that is full of them.

"Every college that has seen him on tape loves him," Battaglia said. "He can go anywhere he wants. He'll be one of the top 10 defensive linemen in the country. A kid like this comes around for a coach once in your life."

Class C: Bronxville 34, General Brown 14

Bronxville beat General Brown 34-14 to win the Class C title. It is first state title for the Broncos, who finished 11-1 in 2009 after losing the NYS championship game to Southwestern.

"I said after the loss last year that I wished we had been one game better," coach Jeff Napolitano said. "We were fortunate to get back to the Dome and finish 12-0 this time."

Napolitano says that he did not want to emphasize returning to the carrier Dome during the off-season.

"What I have tried to emphasize to our team is to win the Section championship," coach Jeff Napolitano said. "That's a tremendously successful season. Winning the Section 1 championship is always the goal."

The Broncos returned to the Carrier Dome despite suffering heavy graduation losses.

"We had 9 kids graduate from the team last year," Napolitano said. "We can move players on after high school and we have a nice group playing in college right now."

Napolitano, who served as the head coach at Iona Prep in New York City for seven seasons, had some solid players returning to the fold.

Quarterback

Dillon Mitchell returned as a starting QB. Mitchell, who started at RB in 2009, completed 7 of 13 passes for 81 yards and 2 TDs in the win over General Brown.

"We have never lost a game where Dillon was the starting quarterback," Napolitano said. "He started 5 games at QB in 2009. He really bounced around a played a lot of different positions for us."

Four linemen also returned to start on the offense for the Broncos. Kieran Borcich will play for Boston College next season while three other linemen have chosen to play at Ivy League schools. Elliott Bartsch (Harvard), Stephen Showmaker (Yale) and Henry Palermo (still deciding between Yale and Dartmouth) were starters in both 2009 and 2010.

"Those three boys opted to play in the Ivy's," Napolitano said. "They were all invited to the combine in Syracuse and they were recruited by Maryland, West Virginia and some other big-time schools. But they are very high-achieving academic kids and chose to go to the Ivy's. They see the opportunity at the Ivys and want to pursue that."

Christian Conway led the ground game with 97 yards rushing.

Class D: Tuckahoe 27, Cal-Mum 0

Tuckahoe won the school's second NYS championship with a 27-0 win over Caledonia-Mumford. The Tigers finished the season with a 12-1 record, losing only to Class C state champion Bronxville 30-19 early in the season.

Tuckahoe coach John D'Arco, who has also won a state title as Tuckahoe's baseball coach, says that he was confident entering the game at the Carrier Dome.

"You have to respect your opponent but we didn't fear them at all," D'Arco said. "I thought we could stop their running game and beat them. Cal-Mum was good but we're pretty good, too."

The Tigers held Cal-Mum to just 106 yards rushing in the win and led 6-0 at the half.

Kevin Garabitos rushed for 40 yards and 2 TDs and also passed for a TD as the Tigers pulled away in the second half.

D'Arco joined the Tuckahoe program as the defensive coordinator in 1999. He stepped into the head coaching job in 2002.

D'Arco coached at Eastchester High School from 1982 until 1994 but voluntarily stepped down.

"I left the job because my son was getting ready to play high school football," he said. "I wanted to be able to watch him play. I didn't think it would be good to be the head coach and have him as a player so I was just a fan for a while."

D'Arco says he did not exactly enjoy his time away from the sidelines.

"It was very difficult," D'Arco said. "It was hard. That showed me that I wasn't ready to stop coaching. Other people could see it, too. After my son graduated, the AD at Tuckahoe asked me to be the defensive coach and I jumped at the opportunity."

D'Arco, who now has a career record of 120-59, has led Tuckahoe to three NYS title games at the Carrier Dome. The Tigers lost to Weedsport 22-21 in 2004 and beat Oakfield-Alabama 27-14 in 2006.

D'Arco worked as the Recreation Director for the Town of Tuckahoe since 1978 but retired from that position recently.

"It was an ideal job for me," he said. "It put me in close contact with the kids and it gave me the time to coach in the fall and the spring. The kids had to see me and deal with me in different venues. It worked well for all of us."

at Hofstra University

Class I: Freeport 62, William Floyd 35

Freeport set numerous records on the same day it won its fourth Class I Long Island championship, beating Suffolk County's William Floyd, 62-35, at Hofstra University.

Freeport (11-1) and Floyd (9-3) combined for a record 97 points and the Red Devils set a single-game record with the 62 points, passing Sayville's total of 55 in the 2004 LIC against Wantagh.

Freeport also set a record with 533 total yards in the game and set another record with 511 points scored during the 2010 season.

Freeport quarterback Isaiah Barnes set a record with six rushing touchdowns. Barnes also passed for a TD and rushed 23 times for 206 yards in the title game.

"We hung together," Freeport coach Russ Cellan said. "We stayed the course and were able to make some plays."

Stacey Bedell gave Floyd an early 14-0 lead as he ran back the opening kickoff 91 yards. After Freeport punted on its first possession, Bedell sprinted 52 yards for another touchdown.

"We weren't rattled," Cellan said. "You just keep chipping away and see what happens. We made some big plays. We have a lot of skilled guys that can play and Isaiah is one of the best."

Freeport's ability to pass has been a key trait in their offensive genetics all season, and while Barnes, a junior, only passes for one touchdown, his presence was heard frequently throughout.

"We watched a lot of film on them and we saw that we could exploit their secondary," he said. "We have great receivers, some of the best on the Island and we did it. I was real relaxed. There is no other feeling like this."

Bedell totaled four touchdowns, including a 40-yard interception return later in the game.

Bedell and Barnes will both be back next year, meaning Class I will have its hands full again.

Class II: Bellport 26, Garden City 21

There was a time earlier in the season when many critics doubted Bellport would be a contender in November.

The Clippers (9-3) started the season 2-3, but Joe Cipp, his coaching staff and players all know what the program is about.

So did Garden City head coach Tom Flatley, whose Trojan teams have played victim to a Bellport onslaught three times in previous Long Island championship games.

It happened again this November, as Bellport beat Garden City, 26-21, in the Class II title game.

Travis Houpe, Bellport's grind-it-out back, scored the game-winning touchdown on a 3-yard run with 1:23 left. Prior to the play, he was banged up with a back injury.

"Does your knee hurt?," Cipp asked him. "Yep.' Does your back hurt? 'Yep.' Does your heart hurt? 'Nope.'"

That was all the conviction Cipp needed. He sent Houpe out one last time to get the job done.

"We had some great stops. It was a great team victory and I'm really happy the kids won it," said Cipp. "It could have went either way and we just ended up on top."

Cipp became the all-time winningest coach in Suffolk County history a week prior after his Bellport squad beat East Islip in the Suffolk County Division I championship.

His 211 victories, now two more than former Comsewogue head coach Tom Cassese, aren't his priority though.

"The wins are a monkey off my back," he said. "I'd rather win a Long Island championship. The kids are a part of it. They played their hearts out."

Houpe, who set a Suffolk record with 332 rushing yards a week earlier, finished with 104 yards on 25 carries against Garden City (10-2).

"Words can't even explain how this feels," he said after the game. "We all just leaned on each other and won."

Garden City made its record 12th appearance in the LIC, while Bellport won its sixth Island title, tying North Babylon for the most ever.

LONG ISLAND CHAMPIONSHIPS

at Hofstra University

Class III: Lynbrook 42, Sayville 27

Lynbrook had not been to the Long Island Championships since 1992, the year the modern playoff structure originated and a year before anyone on the team was born.

Head coach Steve LoCicero was an assistant that season. LoCicero finally grabbed his own title this year when the Owls (11-1) beat Sayville, 42-27, in the Class III final at Hofstra University.

It was Sayville's (10-2) fifth appearance in the big dance and the first time it lost.

Lynbrook's offense was sparked by its usual running core of quarterback Paul Magloire (120 yards, three touchdowns and a pair of 2-point conversions), running back Travis Lock (174 yards and two touchdowns) and full back Mike Kozlakowski (77 yards, one touchdown and one conversion).

"We have a great offensive line, and it starts with the kids up front," LoCicero said. "The backs usually get all the credit, but without the kids up front, none of this would take place."

LoCicero says that Lynbrook will pass occasionally.

"We have the ability to throw," he said "but when you have three backs that average 10 yards a carry it doesn't take a rocket scientist to know what works."

LoCicero admits to being nervous about defending against Sayville's balanced offense. The Golden Flashes passed 29 times and rushed 28 times a week earlier in the county final.

Sayville sophomore RB John Haggart rushed 27 times for 123 yards and three touchdowns, while junior quarterback Steve Ferreira was 9-of-22 passing for 198 yards and one touchdown. Both players return next season.

Kozlakowski, a bruising back, had multiple carries with significant yardage throughout the victory.

"You have to play every play like it's your last," he said. "Especially in a game like this."

LoCicero said the team received solid support from the community.

"I think it's wonderful for the Lynbrook community," added LoCicero. "It's about the entire team, the administrators, faculty, kids, parents, it takes them all to win a championship and we have a great group."

Class IV: John Glenn 28, Seaford 7

Ryan Reilly was the X-factor for John Glenn this year. The senior quarterback, who compiled a Long Island record 3,536 all-purpose yards in 2010, ran or passed on 42 of 43 possessions in the Class IV Long Island championship. The result: a 28-7, win over Seaford at Stony Brook University.

Glenn (12-0) finished the season as the only undefeated public school team on Long Island, while Seaford (11-1), which appeared in the last three title games, had its 23-game win streak snapped.

"Ryan is unbelievable," said Glenn head coach Dave Shanahan. "He puts us in good plays. There were 10 plays he checked to better ones."

Reilly, whose father Jim won a county title with Glenn as a tight end in 1979, had 306 (250 rushing) of the team's 316 yards of total offense.

Seaford's first possession took up 19 plays and 9:48, parts of the first and second quarters. Justin Buckley's touchdown was the only score for Seaford, and Glenn took over thereafter.

"That's what their plan was and they did a good job of it," Reilly said.

The victory marked the first Island title for Glenn, as well as the first LIC for assistant coach Fred Fusaro, who coached at Sachem High School for 32 years and appeared in the big game once in 1995 - a loss to Lawrence in Class I.

"Getting here is not easy, winning it is even harder," said Fusaro, Suffolk's fourth winningest coach with 192 career victories. "It was a great year. This team here, personality wise, is different than any team I've ever been around. They don't get uptight; they're loose as a goose. They have a lot of confidence in themselves."

While Reilly, who is headed to play Division I lacrosse at Hofstra University, was the bread and butter, the offensive line and steady defense was like salt and pepper - extra flavor to a good meal.

"Coach Fusaro had a great [defensive] game plan," said Shanahan, who played for Fusaro at Sachem. "It came down to toughness. This is something you wish for as a coach and it's finally here."

A Coaching Odyssey

After 47 years, Dan Troy is right back where he started his career... on the sidelines at St. Joe's Collegiate Institute in Buffalo.

Troy, who is now the defensive coordinator at St. Joe's, has traveled far and wide over his long coaching career. His coaching odyssey has taken him all over Western New York... only to end up right back at St. Joe's.

"I've always had a ton of respect for Dan," St. Joe's head coach Dennis Gilbert said. "I loved his intensity and attention to detail. He's a technician. He has an unbelievable passion for the game and the kids."

Gilbert was the Marauders varsity quarterback when he first met Troy in 1982.

"He coached the freshman team for a couple of years," Gilbert said. "Then he moved up to the varsity. I remember him as a very intense coach."

Gilbert was hired as a St. Joe's assistant coach shortly after graduating, giving him another view of the veteran assistant.

"I had the opportunity to see him as a fellow coach," Gilbert said. "The effort and the time he puts in is tremendous. He's committed on a crazy level. He just loves to coach."

It was always this way. Troy began coaching Little League baseball in 1963 at the age of 17. At the time, he was also a football player for St. Joe's. He graduated in 1965 and played in two games against Canisius.

"I know we split with them," he said. "I don't remember which game we won."

For the record, St. Joe's lost to Canisius 19-18 in 1963 and won the 1964-game, 25-0.

Troy, who worked as an investigator for the New York State Liquor Authority, has coached at St. Joe's, Williamsville South, Tonawanda and Williamsville East.

He even spent two years as the head coach at Canisius but he left voluntarily after the 2000 season.

"My job wouldn't allow me to put in the amount of time necessary to be a head coach," he said. "I love the game and I love coaching but I just couldn't do the job the way I wanted. So I stayed as an assistant."

When he was hired as the head coach at St. Mary's, Gilbert tried to hire Troy to join his staff.

"Over the years, he had asked me to come and coach with him on multiple occasions," Gilbert said, "and I was always asking him to join me. Wherever one of us went, we tried to drag the other guy with them. It never worked out until now."

Troy even had the gumption to ask Gilbert to join his staff at Canisius, but...

"I would never do that," Gilbert said. "I'd be kicked out of my family."

Gilbert says he didn't hold the Canisius experience against Troy when it came time to consider his coaching staff at St. Joe's.

"We all have lapses in judgment," Gilbert said. "I forgave him."

Besides, the benefits that Troy would bring to Gilbert's staff far outweighed any past "indiscretions."

"He's been doing this a long time," Gilbert said. "And despite the age difference, he relates very well to the kids. As soon as I was hired at St. Joe's, coach Troy was at the top of my short list for assistants."

Troy says he may have enjoyed this season more than any other in his career.

"We got a lot of heart and a lot of determination from a young team," he said. "When I was the head coach at Canisius, the kids had same work ethic and desire over there. You can't question their work ethic."

Troy says he can't count how many kids he has coached over his 47-year career.

"It would have to be in the thousands," he said. "There has been so many. I still enjoy it. To see the light in the kids' eyes when they get something right is really something special."

Troy does marvel at ending up back at St. Joe's, where he started 47 years ago.

"I guess it's good to come back home," he said.
